From the Outside of the Window

When the call for evangelisation was up for a challenge, we look for Jesus to give us his encouragement and reassurance for all of us to “Go, and make disciples of all nations.” He also added that “I am with you until the end of time.” (Mt 28:19-20) Thank you Jesus. Then, last Sunday, as the apostles returned to be with Jesus after their evangelisation program, Jesus offered them REST because he knew that they had become exhausted after the days’ work. ‘You must come away to some lonely place all by yourselves and rest for a while’ (Mark 6:30) Jesus shows remarkably his tender heart to his apostles who went out to fulfil their mission.

His tender heart was also moved by a vast crowd who from all the towns hastened on foot to the deserted place just to see him. And once again in TODAY’S Gospel, the crowd who followed Jesus and his disciples were found not just hungry to see and to hear the Word of God, but also hungry for food to sustain them. Then Jesus asked his disciples to feed them.

Brendan Byrne, a Melbournian Bible scholar commented that “the disciples are utterly perplexed as to why they should take upon themselves this responsibility, impossible to fulfil granted the amount of food available (five barley loaves and two fish) from a young boy.” But this did not stop the Jesus to show how genuine giving and feeding is about. And then the miracle happened. This miracle of the multiplication of bread and fishes is not directing us to the failed trust of the disciples onto Jesus who is the Bread of Life. It rather points us to how Jesus invites all of us that HE IS THE REAL FOOD and upon receiving HIM, we can become a faithful people who can share to other people who are hungry in many ways; hungry for love, hungry for inclusion, hungry for appreciation, hungry for attention, etc...

Perhaps when we have our five barley loaves and two fish in whatever form it may be, that we are ready to share and to give then we would be as tender hearted as Jesus is. And this is becoming who we receive, becoming Jesus. Dear friends, let us look out for the hungry around us. Perhaps, they are just someone very close by proximity and affinity. In a world faced with hunger on a global scale, the challenge of Jesus, ‘Where can we buy bread for these people to eat?’ remains. It is an economic question and a political question. And the Gospel suggests it is also a religious question – one Jesus throws to us as he did to his disciples on a mountain in Galilee.

On this St James’ Fete let us celebrate being in a faith-community, in friendship and for disciple-ship-sake. Let us answer together the call of Jesus to share bread and fish for others. This is essentially how our St James’ Primary school community nurtures the heart, the head and the hands of our young students and staff members.

It’s almost August and the QCMF is coming too. Please watch out for more information about the music festival. Lastly, please keep praying for Deacon Dang who will be ordained on September 22. He needs our prayer and support in this new role in ministry.

May God bless us all... Fr Saldie, OSA
